

Helping Others Succeed

Solution-Focused Brief Coaching

As leaders, our roles are not just to be good in our work expertise but also to lead and guide our teams towards success. In addition, we need to recognise that Coaching has an enormously essential role to build and sustain great organizations and extraordinary workplaces. People who want to accomplish bigger goals for their organisations often get stuck and need external resource to help them overcome their limitations. Coaches help to get them un-stuck and empower them to move forward in achieving their maximum potential in life and workplace.

This program is a systematic way of equipping leaders to help their team members to focus on Solutions rather than problems. You will be given opportunities to master the art of asking good questions that guide your team members find their own answers that allow to chart their own progress.

Highlights

- Help participants to be focused on finding solutions to their problems for themselves.
- Help participants to adopt more "solution-conscious" mind-sets rather than "problem-focused" mind-sets.
- Learn how to guide your colleagues towards their goals by using powerful questioning techniques.
- Help participants to discover their own strengths during coaching.
- Learn how to coach their clients to come out with solutions for themselves in about 40 mins.
- Use a pictorial form of solution focused template to help coaches and their clients to be focused on their goals.
- Get involved in highly interactive sessions where you will practice the skills taught on fellow participants.
- Help participants to be resourceful in eliciting quick action steps from their clients to deal with their problems.

"It creates greater self-awareness and gives me more clarity on my goals and purposes. That helps me to narrow down my career path. I also feel relaxed with Moses' coaching style and have time to digest and think about my issues."

Mr Jonathan Lim, Civil Engineer, Land Transport Authority

Moses has 15 years of experience and specializes in Training and People Development. Over these years, he worked with hundreds of leaders from institutions. He also has a Masters of Arts and was awarded with The Academic Excellence Award. In addition, he is also a certified Solution-Focused Therapist with Canadian Council of Professional Certification.
